Statement for Publication

ILH has been providing home tuition for many years. It has good products on offer, a well-established client base and loyal and caring staff. Many local organisers and host teachers have worked with ILH for many years.

Inspections in recent years identified the need to improve academic management so that high standards of teaching and learning were maintained in all regions. In particular, a systematic approach to lesson observations, support and professional development for host teachers and local organisers was required. Administration now operates according to current best practice. The organisation has introduced a number of refinements to its academic management systems and has made steady progress in achieving the ABLs standard.
